THE DRUMMER'S LATEST TRICK. Don't Pick the Stray Thread from His Coat

Unless You Want to Be Laughed At. Lewiston Journal. The drummer always brings the latest trick. Here it is: Take a spool of white basting cotton. Drop it into your inside coat pocket and, threading a needle with it, pass it up through the shoulder of your coat. Leave the end an inch or so long on the outside of your coat and take off the needle. Four men out of five will try to pick that whole thread off your shoulder, and will pull on the spool until it actually does seem as through your clothes are all bastings, and that they were unraveling not only your clothes, but yourself. "I was in to see Wilson Barrett in

'Claudian,' in Boston, last week," said the traveling man. "It was in the most interesting and pathetic portion of the play. Everybody was rapt. I was sitting bolt upright, and didn't know or care to know a soul around me, when suddenly I felt some one tugging at that basting cotton that I myself had clean forgotten. I didn't say a word and did not move. Foot by foot it unrolled. Half glancing around, I saw a man-a total stranger-yanking at that thread. His face was scarlet. He had pulled out about ten yards, and was now hauling in, hand over hand. He didn't dare to stop, because he had decorated my back and the whole aisle with basting cotton. He hardly dared to go ahead, for he didn't know what portion of my domestic interior economy he was trifling with. Rip! rip! went the thread. Hand over hand he yanked it in. The aisle was full of it. 'For heaven's sake! will it never end? said he above his breath. I sat perfectly still and ran the spool while he pulled. How I wanted to yell. I never saw anything in my life half so funny. The whole section of the house got on to it. They didn't know whether to laugh at me or him, and some looked on amazed at the spectacle. At last the stranger behind me gave one frantic rip, and yanked out about eleven yards on one bunch, and as the cotton got twisted around his watch-chain, over his eye-glasses, in his very hair, and filled his lap, I turned around, and producing the spool from my pocket, said: 'I am very much obliged for your interest, and very sorry that I misled you. You see, I have about 120 yards left, but I presume that you don't care for any more to-night. I am honestly sorry, but I can't help smiling.'

"The man was a modest sort of gentleman in appearance. His face was red as fire even to his ears. He looked at me and then at the spool. He changed color once or twice, and then as the crowd caught on a big laugh went up right in one of the pain-ful passages of 'Claudian,' and the gentleman who had intended to pull that thread off joined in the laugh and said: 'I will but, my friend, I swear to heaven that I did think at one time that I was going to undress you where you sat.' "It catches every time, and my own wife has been fooled twice on it." Gave Them the Best He Had.

will by non-transferrable and non-scalp-Chicago Herald. "Nowadays the newspapers have their sporting editors, their society editors, their religious editors, and, in fact, an editor for every department," said an old-time newspaper publisher, yesterday. I remember when the Herald was in its infancy, and when its men turned their hand to almost every line of work. When Will Eaton was in charge there was a reception to be given to Jim Blaine by the Union League Club, in the old rooms in the Honore Building. Will summoned a reporter and told him to take the affair in and do it up in style. 'Have you a full-dress suit?' he asked. The man bad not, 'Well,' said Will, 'I think that mine will just about fit you. I'll give you an order for it. You go to your room and put on your very best shirt. Then you take this order, go to my house, and put on my dress suit. We'll show them that we can do things in style, even if this is a young paper.' Well, the reporter started out with his instructions and the order for the suit. Along about 10 P. M. one of Eaton's friends, who had shaken hands with Blaine, dropped in at the office and asked: 'Will, who in — is that man you've got over at Blaine's blowout?' Eaton mentioned the man's name and proudly remarked that he had gone there in proper style. 'I should think he had, said the caller, 'He's got on a dress suit but his caller. 'He's got on a dress suit, but his dress shirt is a deep blue, with polka dots as big as silver dollars.' This was really the case, but the reporter had followed instructions, and put on 'the best shirt he Pittsburg Chronicle. The marriage of Miss. Sophie Hohenzol-lern, of Berlin, to Mr. Sparta, of Athens, at the residence of the bridegroom's parents, yesterday, was "quite a society event," as Jenkins would say: "and the presents were numerous and costly."

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr.

and Mrs. William Hohenzollern, of Berlin, brother and sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Frederick Hohenzollern, the bride's mother: Mr. and Mrs. Christian, of Copenhagen, grandparents of the groom; Albert Edward Wettin, Esq., of Sandringham, England, uncle of the bride, and young Mr. Romanoff, of St. Petersburg, cousin of the groom; all of whom are well-known people.

There were also others whose names were not handed to the reporter. We regret to say that Mrs. William Hohenzollern suffered somewhat from seasickness on the way to the scene of the happy event. Otherwise the festivities passed off without anything to mar the joyful oc-

After a short tour of the Eastern cities the newly-married pair will go to housekeeping at Athens, where the newly-made husband has an excellent situation, and it is understood they will keep two hired girls.

The Colfax monument is twenty feet to the top of the statue. The pedestal is twelve feet and the statue eight feet. From the level of the walks in the park it is twenty-one feet. It was erected by the lodges, camps, and Rebekah lodges of this country to the memory of Schuyler Colfax, the author of the Rebekah degree.

The grand secretary of Pennsylvania, James B. Nicholson, and the grand treasur-er, M. Richards Muckle, have made a report to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania of the losses of the Johnstown disaster, and the funds received and disbursed by the Oddfellows alone. The report is very full and complete, and gives the only authentic account of the number of Odd-fellows, wives and children drowned, and the pecuniary loss. There were five lodges in the district, with 628 members, and their losses were as follows: Loss in real estate, $497,463; loss in property, $328,440; total, $825,903. The report gives the name and lodge of each man or woman, and the aggregate of children, and fixes the number lost as follows: Number ight; number of children, lui of men, thirty-t vo; number of women, thir-171. The report enters so much into detail as to give the amount of assistance rendered each of the survivors, and in this respect is more satisfactory than any heretofore given of a similar occurrence. It also shows the amount of assistance rendered to sufferers outside of the Cone-maugh valley. The total contributions by the Odd-fellows of the various States, Territories and provinces of America was $62,646.69; amount disbursed to sufferers, $58,086.70; in hands of relief committee of Johnstown for future needs, $4,559.99. The contributions from Indiana lodges amounted to $2,227.50.

Travelers' Protective Association. Post "D," at Evansville is preparing to dedicate new club-rooms soon. This post

The diamond pin presented to the one obtaining the greatest number of new applications for membership in the United Commercial Travelers' Society of this city for the past sixty days was won by D. C. Griffith. The contest was between him and W. F. Winchester. It is suggested by the National Commercial Traveler to have a "Drummers' Day" at the world's fair, and to make it national. As soon as it is definitely settled where it will be held arrangements will be commenced by the different associations to make such an event a great success. A meeting of State officers of the Indiana division, T. P. A., was held last evening, at Wayne Hotel, Fort Wayne. National President Root and General Manager Van Pelt were present. It was decided to have the general manager begin his work in Indiana at once, and he will visit Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Terre Haute, Lafayette and Evansville, spending as much time in each city as it requires to increase the membership, both active and associate.

An important movement is soon to be made by all travelers' associations in the United States, assisted by a delegation of merchants from the North, South, East and West. It will seek to have adopted a 5,000 mileage book, at a rate of 2 cents per mile, and to be good on all roads in the United States. It is proposed to call it the universal commercial ticket. Such a ticket is now in operation in two sections of the country—in the Northwest, where it is honored by ten roads, and in Ohio, where it is good on twenty roads. All roads with few exceptions issue mileage books at a rate of 2 cents per mile, and do so in such a manner that they are constantly falling into the hands of the scalpers and being used by any one but the original purchaser.

The adoption of a book to cost $100 would protection against transferring it, and besides a photograph of the original purchaser and besides a ought to be inserted in each book. More than one thousand merchants employing traveling men have indorsed the movement, and the 250,000 commercial travelers surely are in favor of a 5,000-mileage book, which Washington Lodge conferred the degree upon one applicant and received one application for membership last Monday. Indiana Lodge received one application for membership last evening, and will have work in the degree at its next meeting.

Hope Lodge gave an enjoyable social and entertainment to the members of the order on last Tuesday evening, as did Phœnix Lodge Wednesday evening. Indiana Lodge, last Thursday, was visited by Mr. and Mrs. Levi. of North Vernon, and Dr. J. J. Cole, of Washington Lodge.

All made short speeches in the interest of Compton Lodge conferred the degree on an applicant last Wednesday evening. This lodge will give a social and short literary entertainment at its hall Wednesday evening next.

Pleasant Lodge, Brightwood, conferred the degree on two applicants at its last meeting. This lodge is in a flourishing con-dition and has a degree team which will be appropriately costumed in the near future. Pleasant Lodge has a side degree, which is proving a popular feature of the lodge. The degree is conferred after the adjournment of the lodge. The following officers were recently elected and installed: Grand commander, Charles Rehling; grand vice-commander, Mrs. E. E. Sutton; grand secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. C. Burkline; grand chaplin, Mrs. E. J. Pratt; grand guide, Miss Flora A. Horn; grand demon, Mr. W. H. Roberts; grand inside sentinel, Mr. Ebe Baldwin; grand escort, Mr. J. H. Stogsdell.

Order of the Iron Hall. Sisterhood branch No. 495 initiated four new members last Monday night, which makes the present membership 123.

Local branch No. 762, which formerly met at Van Sickle's Hall, in the north part of the city, will meet hereafter on Tuesday evenings, at No. 30 Circle street. Sisterhood branch No. 675 had a called meeting last Monday afternoon for initiation. The social given last week was well attended, and the programme was thoroughly enjoyed. Dr. Naomi C. Moffett, medical examiner of the sisterhood branches, has returned from a pleasant trip to Richmond of two or three weeks' duration, and found an accumulation of business on her return.

German sisterhood branch No. 745 is nearly two years old, and has never had but two or three sick benefits to pay. The officers are competent and popular, and the membership is steadily increasing.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

CATARRH CURED BY A NEW SCIENTIFIC method, Send address and 2 cents. SUCCESS CATARRH CURE CO., Indianapolis. Local branch No. 775, of Haughville, inl-The branch was never in better condition than at present, and it is making rapid strides in overtaking the membership of some of the city branches.

Miss Laura Vincent, accountant of Sisterhood branch No. 405, will leave for Flor-ida in a few days. She has resigned charge of the books, and the names of several competent and popular members have been mentioned as candidates for the office. Among them are Mrs. Lettie Snyder and Miss Hattie Johnson.

Local branch No. 1 has eighteen new members, and next Thursday evening the degree will be conferred upon six applicants. Last week, seven members of the branch, whose terms of seven years' membership had expired, were paid their final benefits, amounting to $3,140.

The committee appointed by Sisterhood Branch 495 has arranged a unique enter-tainment, to be given under the auspices of the branch, assisted by Mrs. Mattie Mc-Corkle, at Pfafflin's Hall, Thursday evening, Nov. 14. The exercises will consist of two good selections, "Queen of the Birds" and "Jack, the Giant Killer," concluding with a social dance. The first-named is a musical charade, and a prize will be given to the party guessing the word, during the intermission.

Indiana and Kentucky are now near each other in the race for the first State camp. Messrs. Ault, Bayles and Eppick, of Penn-sylvania, and Payne, of Connersville, were welcome visitors at the last meeting of Washington Lodge.

Eight propositions for membership were received by Washington Lodge, Friday night, and three candidates were taken through the Red degree. There are now eight applications for the White degree.

Knights of Honor. The degree team of Victoria Lodge will have a drill to-morrow evening. Circular No. 2 from the supreme dictator was received last week. It gives the net increase of members to the order for the first six months of this year as being more than four thousand.

To Consumers of Dr. Price's Baking Powder. Strong efforts are being made by various baking powder firms whose goods contain alum and ammonia to discredit the good work being done by the Price Baking Powder Company in exposing these adulterations by tests.

One firm especially warns the public against seeing the simple test used for that purpose, saying that it is dishonest, false,

The following is the test: Mix in a tin cup two heaping teaspoonfuls of the powder with three teaspoon-fuls of cold water, place it over the fire stirring constantly; allow it to boil thoroughly, or, until the gas escapes freely; then smell; if adulterated the odor of ammonia will be plainly perceived. The presence of ammonia, in most cases, indicates that alum is used, as nearly all the alum of commerce contains ammonia. Pure baking powder will not give the faintest

What is there dishonest about this test? Any lady, possessed of the sense of smell, can make it, and the best chemists in the country acknowledge its practical common

Why do these firms whine and protest? Simply because their goods smell strongly of ammonia when heated. If the smell of ammonia is obtained it is conclusive evidence that their goods contain one if not both of these adulterants, as the common alum of commerco is a sulphate of alumen and ammonia (see U. S. Dispensatory, p. 161), and gives a powerful odor of ammonia when heated. Protection from alum and ammonia baking powders can be had by making this simple test, and all ladies interested in purity in food can try it.
